

May 7-8-9—Park events-Flooding

FRANKFORT, Ky. – All Kentucky State Parks are open this weekend and all 17 resort parks will be serving the Mother's Day buffet on Sunday, May 9.

The buffet features roast beef, roast pork with apple dressing, catfish and hushpuppies, chicken and dumplings, vegetables, soup and salad bar and dessert. The cost for adults is $16.95 and the cost for children 6 to 12 years is $7.95 and both include beverage.

Flooding across the state caused some park attractions such as campgrounds and marinas to close, but most are now open.

All state park golf courses are open. However, the front nine holes at Barren River and the back nine holes at Lake Barkley are closed due to flooding. Guests can play nine holes at those courses.

The phones at Carter Caves State Resort Park near Olive Hill have not been working due to flooding, but the park is open. Guests with questions about Carter Caves may call Greenbo Lake State Resort Park at 800-325-0083.

The campgrounds at Green River Lake and Lake Barkley are closed. The campgrounds at Fort Boonesborough and Nolin Lake are partially open.

The U.S. Coast Guard has closed Kentucky Lake, Lake Barkley, and portions of the Tennessee River and the Cumberland River to recreational boaters due to flooding. All state parks along these lakes are open.

Guests may wish to call the state park they plan to visit to check on events and openings. More information about Kentucky State Parks is available at www.parks.ky.gov
